Proposals for the integration award of Tempelhof-Schöneberg

The Tempelhof-Schöneberg district again awards the „Integrationspreis“ this year.

In doing so, the district would like to honor the special achievements of associations, institutions, organizations, groups or persons of the district who have made outstanding contributions to the participation of the migrants living here and for the intercultural opening of society.

By awarding the “Integrationspreis” the district of Tempelhof-Schöneberg would like to honor this commitment and set a sign for diversity, acceptance and equal opportunities.

The process takes place as an open competition under the patronage of the district mayor Angelika Schöttler and the headman of the district parliament Stefan Böltes.

The district parliament has provided 1.000,- Euro as prize money.

An independent jury will review the incoming proposals and identify the winners.

The award decision is based on the following criteria:

- integration-promoting measures with great and lasting effects
- originality of ideas
- role model
- party political neutrality
